JOHN HENRY NEWMAN NEWSLETTER

It has been another busy and successful week in school, with lots of fantastic learning taking place across all year groups. Our singing collective worship was a real highlight, bringing joy and enthusiasm as children lifted their voices together.

Year 6 pupils have been campaigning for the important role of Head Student and should be incredibly proud of the thoughtful and confident speeches they delivered to the whole school. Voting takes place at the end of the day, with ballots being counted and verified, providing a wonderful example of democracy in action.

Some lucky children also enjoyed a visit to Blenheim Palace, where they learned about the exciting roof restoration project and took part in an engaging workshop. We also heard that Mrs. Castro-Goodgame had an unexpected adventure when she got lost in the maze, much to everyone's amusement!

Please make sure you keep an eye on our social media as we put on lots of updates about the children's learning on here, as well as important events.

I am also looking to get a group of parent volunteers to help with school events. We would like to have a PTA, but also a group of enthusiastic organisers! If this is you, please speak to the office.

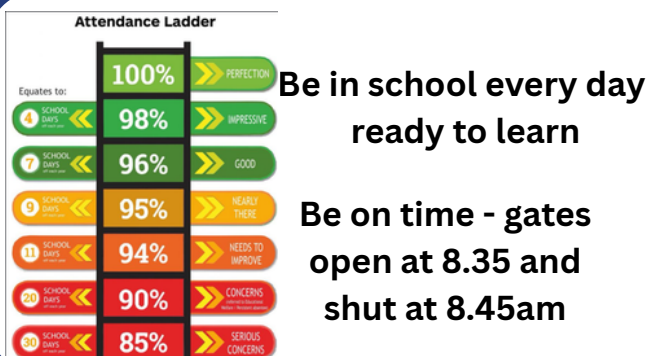

Have a great weekend.

Look up, Out and In

This week, take time to notice the world around you and think about your own spirituality by looking Up, Out and In. Reverend Josh shared this in collective worship this week: ✨

- Look Up: Spend a few moments appreciating the beauty and wonder of creation. What makes you feel amazed or thankful?
- Look Out: Think about how you can show kindness, love or courage to someone at home or in your community.
- Look In: Find a quiet moment to reflect on your thoughts and feelings. What are you proud of? What would you like to improve?

Be ready to share how you have looked Up, Out and In and how these experiences helped your light shine or pop it on Tapestry ✨
